MARIETTA

Whene'er I see a stretching hue of blue on summer day,
I fancy it the sky of Marietta land where slow Muskingum Flows. Here once the ancient Indians trod the Sacred Way,
Or oft disturbed the quiet hills with festive beat of drum,
Where macabre figures whirling leaped and ritual fires glowed.
Now all are gone, only their mounded dead give testament
To the heartache and sweet love in the redman's breast of old.
Oh, could the green-leafed elms but speak a plainer sentiment
Than the whispering winds o'er head, what a song they'd sing!

Yet it is easy to imagine in such a land as this
An Indian maid waiting where the sun-flecked waters bring
Her sweetheart brave with paddle deeply dipped for eager tryst;
Or some warrior scarred in woodland fight nursing his wounds in the noonday sun,
Turning his eye in slow pursuit of a lazy sparrow hawk,
Now amused with the village children who stalk the bear in their fun,
Half listening to the women's praise as they skin his beast and their talk.

And so in that mystic atmosphere of chaste enchantments
All things viewed seem somehow richer in the sun's daylight;
Yet when the circling shadows of the eve close the airy casements,
I call by name the selfsame fires that had elsewhere charmed my sight;
The rolling earth and plain is one under the starry night.

AND

DEDICATION

On November 23, 1955, the honor of Protonotary Apostolic was bestowed on our pastor and principal. In recognition of this honor, and in an attempt to express our gratitude for the interest he has given us, we, the Senior Class of 1956, wish to dedicate to him our volume of the Marian. As years go by we shall always look back and remember the outstanding figure of our school days, and shall eternally thank God for giving to us -- Monsignor Edwin F. Murphy.

Think of . . .
stepping on the shore -
and finding it heaven;
of clasping a hand -
and finding it God's hand;
of breathing new air -
and finding it celestial air;
of feeling invigorated -
and finding it immortality;
of passing from storm and tempest unto an unknown calm;
of waking -
and finding it Home!

February 18, 1956

Dear Mary Margaret,

Yesterday you were one of us. You sat with us in the classroom. You helped us with our homework. You worried a little, perhaps, over your own. You snatched a snack between periods. You littered during our hour. You pined reluctantly for a last-minute candle snafu for the yearbook. Then you worked late -- a little feverishly, perhaps, in an effort to finish the writing, the pasting, the proof-reading of the book you were never to see through the press -- the book of which you were such an integral and vital part.

Yes, yesterday you were one of us -- studying, laughing, planning an exciting weekend. But God had other plans for you, about which neither you nor we had the least notion.

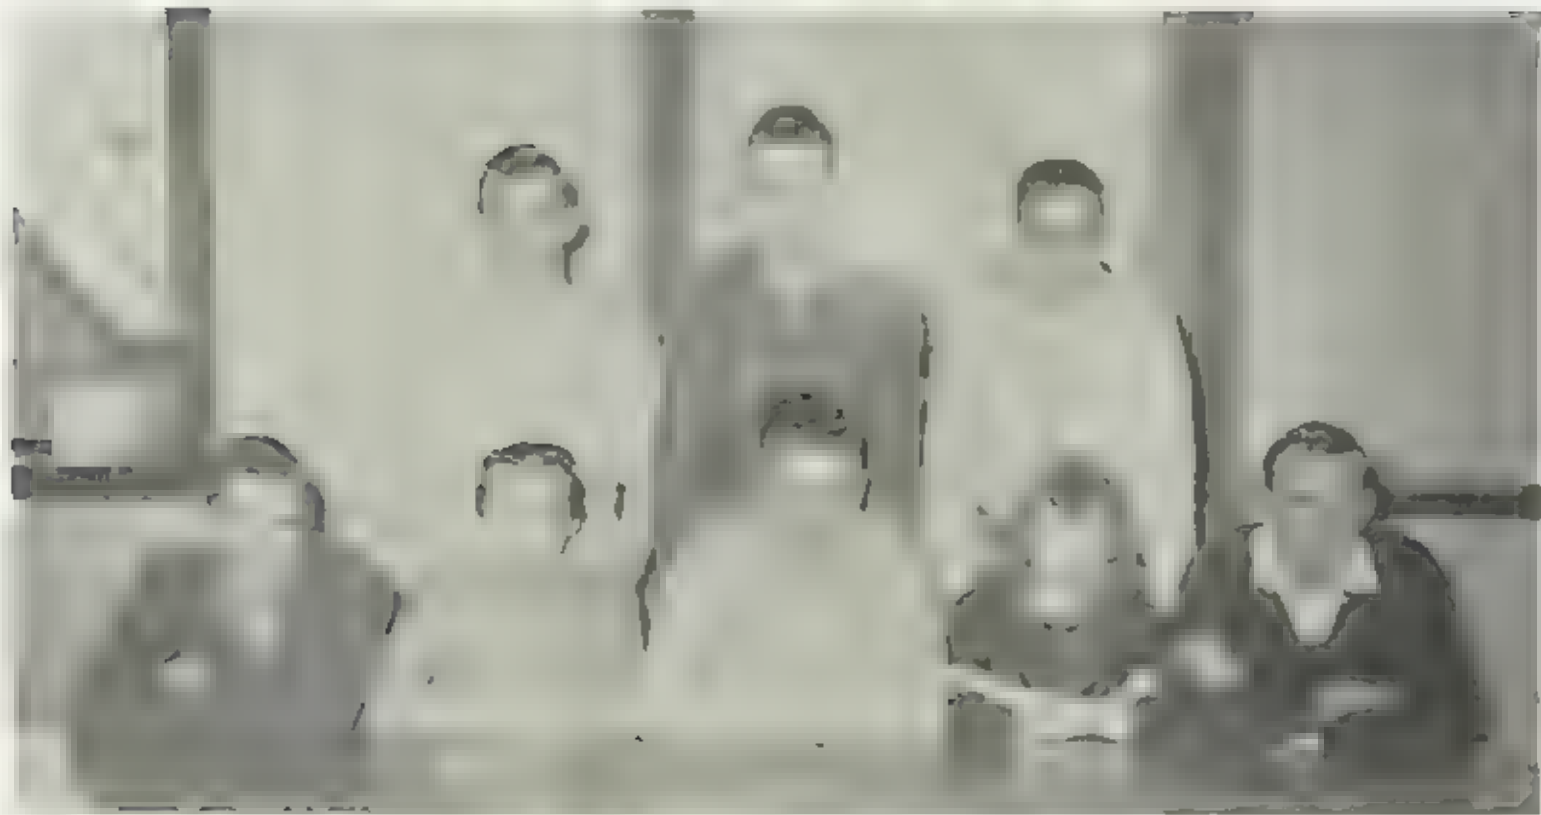

Your death is not the tragedy it seemed at first to be. By it, you have shown all who knew you that you had learned well the lesson of life -- the most important lesson of all -- that one dies as one lives. You lived the life of a modern girl in an exhilarating happy way, working hard when it was time to work, playing hard when it was time to play, but always working and playing according to God's will.

And so, as the angel of death descended from heaven to meet you on a Marietta highway he found you prepared to go with him to God. The fact that you had fasted from midnight in order to receive Holy Communion this morning has been the one shining comfort to all who mourn your loss -- the comfort that can come only to those whose heavy hearts are lightened by the glowing fire of faith in a loving God who knows what is best for each of His children.

Goodbye, Mary Margaret. May we be as well prepared as you to accept the invitation to heavenly glory when it comes to each one of us.

Your classmates

We began our freshman year with nineteen in our class. Our home-room teacher was Sister Mary Anna, and the rest of the faculty included Sister Sebastian, Sister Gertra, and Father Adams. Our first big day was initiation. We were all fearful of what our "ever loving" seniors would do. It is on Judgment Night, but we all pulled through and were really made to feel at home in high school. We elected Bill Albrecht, Fred Scharrff, Irene Walter, and Marlene Dimmerling as class officers. Our first big affair was a "Military Dance" in the Church hall, and everyone had a grand time. The year came to a close with our class picnic at Lake Hope.

We were sophomores before we knew it! This year Regina Strahler and Howard Laine joined our class. We lost one member, Larry, early, leaving our number at twenty. Our home-room teacher was still Sister Mary Nora. The only new member of the faculty was Father Battocletti, who took Father Adams' place as religion instructor. Our class officers for the year were Martha Dyar, David Conley, Irene Walter, and John Moening. The Bishop's Ball, the basketball game, and the graduation breakfast we gave the seniors all helped to make this a wonderful year. We had had so much fun at Lake Hope last year that we decided to go there again for our class picnic. We were sorry to see our sophomore year end, and were looking forward to our junior year when we would get our class rings and go to Washington.

As juniors we walked into a sparkling new school that first day in September. How proud we are of it! We have never ceased to marvel at the spacious halls and the beautiful classrooms. The faculty for this year included our home-room teacher, Sister Sebastian, Sister Gemma, Sister Rose Clement, Father Battocletti, and Father Kramer. We chose Irene Walter, Marlene Ditterlin, Marjorie Lavelle, and Marguerite Cook as class officers for the year. The members of our class still numbered twenty. Our class rings arrived around the first of December. We'll probably never stop showing them off. The year passed quickly with all the activities, and it wasn't any time at all until we were on our way to Washington for a glorious five-day trip which we shall never forget. Nor will we ever forget that Marguerite Murphy was the trip organizer. The year ended in a flurry of preparations for our last year in high school.

Seniors! You may wonder how we ever made it, but here we are at last. We began the year full of zest and vigor. We were determined to make the most of our time. We welcomed our new teachers, Sister Mary Leah, and two other new members to the faculty, Sister Veronica and Father Wenda. Bob Kern deserted our ranks to start his television career. The freshman initiation was our first project. We elected Jim Martin, Tom Thayer, and Larry LaFollette, and John Davis class officers. As the year went on, after we had started, we overtook the boys in the yearbook. We were the only girls' yearbook. The boys' yearbook is already over, and we are now in the process of finishing ours. We are sure that the quality of the yearbook will be high. We are proud of the quality of the yearbook and all the good things that we have done. And now, seniors, we are waiting for the moment when we will be able to leave the school to receive our diplomas. We have a lot to thank for our teachers and our friends. We will always think of St. Mary's with fond memories. We will look back on this year with gratitude and affection for all those who made them what they have been -- the happy carefree days of our youth.
